

Kidscapism

TOOLS FOR SCHOOLS

Kidscapism is a community based around a school, managed by the teachers at that school.

Teachers create classes at their school, and can sign up students to classes.

No external email addresses are required for students.

Work done by students is managed by their teacher(s). Publication of anything can be restricted, and teachers can edit or delete students' work.

What can we do on the site?

Kidscapism offers facilities for the following:

- Secure, simulated email for children to communicate with classmates, and learn the basics of email.
- Story writing – simple stories, or collaborative stories in two or three parts.
- Story reading – students can read (and star in) stories written by teachers.

Collaboration

All teachers registered with the site are checked to ensure they are registered teachers. Once a teacher has set up a class, they are able to set up a secure collaboration with another registered class – enabling students to work on email and other literacy activities with other students around the world.
